WELCOME WORD

We are pleased to announce that the international conference „THE IMPACT OF GLOBAL CHANGE ON THE ENVIRONMENT, HUMAN AND ANIMAL HEALTH“ will be hosted in Košice, Slovakia (May 2-6, 2017). The event aims to provide a platform for discussion about research that contributes to the sharing of new theoretical, methodological and empirical knowledge, and to better understanding of global changes. This conference will provide opportunities for scientists, scholars and students from universities to exchange new ideas and application experiences face to face, to establish research relations and to find global partners for future collaboration. The conference is jointly organized by the University of Veterinary Medicine and Pharmacy in Košice (Slovakia) and by Nord University, Bodø (Norway).

Please share the information on the conference with your colleagues, students and anyone else who may be interested in participating.

We are looking forward to welcoming you in Košice!

Best regards,
Prof. Jana Mojžišová, DVM., Ph.D.
Rector of UVMP in Košice
